West Africa Directors Unite in Prayer

Titus from Nigeria, Genesis from Cameroon, Momo from Liberia and Daniel from Sierra Leone joined International Director Rick Calenberg and Pastors Gary Dozier, Carl Stubblefield for the West Africa Consultation in late May. Each day of the consultation began with a study on Romans 1-2. Gary led these times and had the group read and copy the section to be studied then share their thoughts after a time of individual observation. The men, who have come to love the Word of God, were full of great insights. As a result of these rich times, they were each anxious to preach this section of Romans! Gary told them, "In the Romans Project when we study the Word, we first pray, then read, then write, then listen and then we preach!" In the remaining time, each of the directors shared their lives, testimonies and involvement in the Romans Project. They shared what has been happening in their respective countries, heard stories of special ways the Lord was working through the Romans Project and prayed together.

These gifted men are the reason the Romans Project continues to grow in this region of Africa. Pray that they will keep their passion for God's Word and serving Him.

As always, we appreciate you, and your support of the Romans Project. Visit us online for more information or to give at:

IN THEIR OWN WORDS

This seems to be the "eye opener" project to the truth about the Bible, and stands as a step for discipleship. I pray that this project will take over the entire county, so that by reading and hearing the teaching it will change the lives of the nation.

I pray for this project to extend all over because it is the step to salvation. Through my reading, I came to know that by faith and believ[ing] you can be save[d] in Jesus Christ. Chapter 4:2-4 showed me that Abraham was save[d] from sin by faith and trust in God.
